1:00pm-2:00pm	Breakout Session:  Breakout 1: Meeting the Needs of Your Community Through Dental Integration In today's rapidly evolving healthcare landscape, addressing the comprehensive healthcare needs of our communities has become a paramount goal. Dental care, often considered in isolation, is an integral	Elizabeth Pitts RDH, MS, Medicaid Dental Policy Specialist, MDHHS  Connie Crowe MSN, BSN, RN, Ingham Community Health Centers

	part of overall health and wellness. This panel session delves into the concept of dental integration, a transformative approach to healthcare that bridges the gap between dental and medical services to better serve our communities. Breakout 2: Breaking Down Barriers to Better Mental Health Care: The Role of the Collaborative Care Model (CoCM) While many clinics and health centers have varying levels of behavioral health integration and collaborations, CoCM is a particular type of integrated care. In fact, it is the most evidence-based model of integrated care. that has the most evidence for effectiveness. CoCM is a population health, treatment- to- target based “system of care” that introduces two new roles (Behavioral Health Care Manager and Psychiatric Consultant) and one new tool (Systematic Case Review Tool) to the care team. It is a cost-effective, evidence-based integrated behavioral health care model of care that meets the needs of patients with mild to moderate behavioral health outcomes symptoms. We will review the model and demonstrate how it is being used in various settings (PCPs, Pediatricians, OB/GYNs, and school-based health centers). Many patients with depression and anxiety often fall through the cracks for various reasons. Evidence shows that patients enrolled in CoCM get better faster and typically show improvements like those serviced served in a specialty clinic	Dayna Le Platte MD, Clinical Assistant Professor, Physician Lead of Collaborative Care Program, Michigan Medicine
